LEGAL UPDATE

March 23, 2018

To: Superintendents, Member School Districts (K-12)
From: Steven P. Reiner, Associate General Counsel SPR
Subject: Classified and Certificated Employees – Notification of Reasonable Assurance of Employment for 2018-2019
Memo No. 08-2018

Classified Employees

In order for classified employees who do not work during the summer to be held ineligible for unemployment benefits, Unemployment Insurance Code Section 1253.3 requires that districts give or send these employees a “letter of reasonable assurance” no later than 30 days prior to the last day of the academic year or term.¹ The Code requires very specific language. The attached sample letters comply with the Code requirements.

Letter No. 1 is a sample letter for classified employees who work less than 12 months.

Letter No. 2 is a sample letter for categorical, special, or federally-funded classified employees who work less than 12 months.

Letter No. 3 is a sample letter for classified substitutes to be used if the district has a classified substitute list.

Certificated Employees

It is generally not necessary to send letters of reasonable assurance to regular certificated or administrative employees because they are defined as “professional” employees with either explicit or implied contracts that serve as a “reasonable assurance” of re-employment. Substitute teachers, however, particularly if they are on a list maintained by the district, do not have contracts and we recommend that they also be sent a “letter of reasonable assurance” no later than 30 days prior to the last day of school. Note that each district should send letters to the substitutes on their substitute list and not rely on the county office of education to produce letters of reasonable assurance on its behalf. If a county office of education also employs certificated substitutes for its own programs, it should also send a notice of reasonable assurance to those substitutes.

¹ Unemployment Insurance Code Sec. 1253.3, subd. (h) refers to the “end of the academic year or term” not the last day of service for the employee.

Letter No. 4 is a sample letter to be used for substitute teachers who are on a substitute list.

General

Districts should be aware that if the economic terms and conditions of an employee's work change significantly (more than 20% reduction in income) after the recess between school terms, the notice of reasonable assurance does not bar the employee from collecting unemployment insurance. For instance, if a summer layoff results in a reduction to a part-time position, the individual may be eligible for unemployment benefits.
